

ECE Lab theory of change

If operators have time and capacity to support educators through pedagogical leadership...

...they will have a higher quality work experience...

...which results in increased: recruitment, retention, credentials, and professional learning...

...and the impact is higher quality learning and care for children.

